I have always been a strongly visual person and eager to try new techniques and applications for my skills. Over the years I've been taking challenges and assignments which have got me acquainted with new ways to work and developed my competence. Working with different kinds of people has taught me to value the skills of others while bringing my own part to the outcome. I prefer to work in a group where everybody can benefit from each other's skills and have their influence on the final result.

Even though traditional arts are close to my heart, computers have proved to be invaluable tools in creating new kinds of art. I'm especially interested in producing works where images and sounds blend to form a seamless piece of digital art. Interactivity and usability add a new dimension to the equation but are too often left aside.
